o have very little patience with the pel-Iticians South that are always creaking about the North; who have no hope even in success; whe, instead of giving the North eredit for the sound constitutional position so large a portion of it has sustained, only dwell on the calemities that might have happened, and apprehend the werst naxt time. Se far from cherishing any sues ill-bodiugs, we believe the Union has presed through about as severe a test as it is likely to be subjected to for generations to come; and, after all, we were not in half as much peril as eroekers supposed. The loss of a few thousand in three or four States might have given a majority of the electoral votes to Fremont; but what then? What could Frement heve done with both Houses of Congress against him? We grant that vast evils might have grown cut of his election; but he and his party would have had more cause to regret it after all than anybody else. They leck the wisdom and statesmenship to manage a good eanse, and they would have sunk into contempt. and their miserable policy along with them. They have escaped greater calemities than the South or the Union. Palpit demagegues, freedom shriekors, and strong-minded wemen would have found themselves in the condition of the man that bought the elephant, and would have been thanking to have the purchase taken of their hands. What could a President do without a Congress to support him; with a majority, in fact, to thwart all his purposes, if he had any The federal government would have been a leeked np affair: and the States would have seen how happily they would get along without it; its operations would have inspired nething has disgust and contempt, agtif the masses would have ionged for 1860, when they could rid thomseives of a nuisance. Indeed, we believe that if Frement had been elected, nothing but ecolumn and to have given such a demonstration of the accordingly. imbecility and wretchedness of sectionalism that it could not have raised its head again for the next century. We are very glad, it is true, that we have not the experiment to make; for it would have been a kamrdons one, prohops; still, we don't believe that all sense of justice and patriotism have died out. We still have enough of it for any eries that may cook. We don't, therefore, believe that we have barely orcapid a dissolution of the Union; we were at some distance from the peril, and we are now for from it. Fremont's plarafity in the Kerth was two

Thomas Jofferson, with the alles and sellifen laws, and all the aboutnations of fodoralism. It sonly necessary, fadsed, to recur to the history of this country to correct a great deal of misesprehension about the slavery question. It to mmon to suppose that abolification has made great advances, and is new more formidable then ver: but the fact is otherwise. In 1998, it was with the greatest diff only that a signe Beate was line; and even then the Northwea men who roted to admit Missouri fate the Union were soules at home, and very few of them appeared again in public life. At present, a State could be admitted, notwithstanding sievery, by the rext Congress; and, indeed, it to new apportunit if the slave State, if they sould not trwap up some other excuse for to. The issue free sated before the preple was not whether enother eleve State should be admitted into the Union. That, federal, was the spirit of it, and the leaders of the mevement intended to drive to that point; but themends ipon thousands that voted with them, were influenced by other reasons. They were told that it was determined to make Kasses a store Stoon, and that it was a breach of faith: that the slaw ocracy were warring apon freedom, and had beaten Summer, and staughtered the free State men of Kanses. A thousand felminods and false issues were urged upon the poopte. In the netter guests of the State. of this cenfusion they roted. These reters weeld have found, in case of success, that they had getten what they had not barpained for. Countering the multirade of falrehoods propagated, and the industry and zeal of their setters, it is eertainly not surprising that Prement get the vote he did; but, on the other hend, we have abundant reason to congratulets the Democracy of the lawry perpetrated is this sty, and the mercantile North on their pairtotism, and recovered restutance to the crusade of foresteirm and falsekood nervous about the Southern Commercial Convention. Everything Southern they begin to dis-. ' be dangerous after while to z rised that Millard Fillmore's sentiments, uttered admiring crowds, are so soon forgotten. He didn't mines masters when he spoke of a sectional party. He mil the South ought not to submit and now turning gray, is of an indistinct sendy to sand a party, and would not submit. He appealed to the North to may if they would submit to a perty Sontin, if organized and successful against them. He is no naion shricker, and will not go with that crowd. Sorry he didn't find out n time what sort of company he had got into. Now, we have no admiration for these Southern Demmercial Conventions: but let all go that have the time. Instead of finding disunionists in the South, just now, they will find, prebably, the best satisfied set of fellows they ever met. Some of them have not got over their indignation, perhaps, at a party that almed to nsurp the power of the ederal government, and impose on the South what measures they pleased; but they are not going to let the Union slide just now. It is too good a thing on mony accounts. Buchanan is President, and J. C. Breckinridge is Vice Presidout, and the Democracy have both branches of Congress, and they don't intend the Union shall be disselved. They cen manage all these factions; they are used to it; have done it before, and know exactly how. If any of these factions, or ell of them, had power, one might feel a little norvous; but the old school of pilots will be at the kelm, and with them the skip of State has ewathered many a storm, and is in excellent trim to weather as many more.

But the union shrickers are out of eapital, and are looking engerly round for a hobby. They are trying to roll up their eyes at every sound they hear from the South, and we should not be surprised if they should scare the faithful with a few fre-entors of the South as badly as thay seared them with the Pope last year. Indeed, tho seared them with the Pope last year. Indeed, the dinner he is in his fibrary, excepting that in fair union shrickers will look wolfish, whenever the weather he rides on horseback from seven to four-South wind blows; and snuff treason is the bresse. The Meyer has suggested to the council the importance of sending delegates to this Southern Convention, and we presume that, perilons as lt is, some adventurous individuels will dere to to. Let them keep a charp look out. If the Union is not dissolved, a good deal of champagne and brandy will be; some ink and paper wasted, and volumes of superfixous gas expended. We see that the city athers have given timely insagacity on the part of the friends of the centiltution end the Union would here heer wanting and they will take heed, and govern themselves

His eyes are small, very light, and now neither brilliant nor striking. His chin is rather long, but not pointed. His nose small, regular in its outline, and the nostrils a little elevated. His mouth is well formed, and still filled with teeth; month is well formed, and still filled with teotn; it is strongly compressed, bearing an expression of contentment and benevolence. His complexion, formerly light and freekled, now bears the mark of age and cutaneous affection. His limbs are ancommonly long; his hands and feet large, and his wrists of an extraordinary size. His wait is not precise and military, but easy and His walk is not precise and military, hut easy and swinging. He stoops a little, not so much from age as from natural formation. When sitting, he appears short, partly from a rather lounging habit of sitting, and partly from the disproportionate length of his limbs.

His dress, when in the house, is a grey surtous ocat, kerseymere stuff waistooat, with an under one, faced with some material of a dingy red. His particulous are very long and loose, and of the same color as his coat. Mr. Jefferson rises in the morning as soon as he can see the hands of his clock, which is directly opposite his bed, and examines his thermometer immediately, as he keeps a regular meteorological diary. He employs himself obicay in writing till breakfast, which is at nine. From that time till has become essential to his health and comfort.

His diet is simple, but he seems restrained only by his taste. His breakfast is tea and effec, bread always fresh from the oven, of which he does not seem afraid, with remotimes a slight accompanimeut of cold meat. He enjoys his dinner well taking with his meat a large proportion of vegeta-hise. He has a strong preference for the wines of the Continent, of which he has many sorts of excollent quality, having been more than commonly successful in his mode of importing and preserv-ing them. MB. JEFFERSON'S ACCOUNT OF PATRICE HENRY. rat married very young, and going into some business, on his own account, was a bankrupt before the year was ont. When I was about the age of aftern I left the school here, to go to the college of Williamsburg. I stopped a few days at a friend's in the county of Louisa. There I first was at became acquainted with Patrick Henry.

Having spect the Christmas holidays there, I proconded to Williamsburg. Some question arose about my admission, as my preparatory studies had not been pursued at the school connected with that institution. This delayed my admission think position, and steditable to the Easte.

He was far before ell in meltaining the aprit of the revolution. His influence was most extonsive with the members from the upper counties, and his boldness and their votes overwed and controlled the more and their votes overawed and controlled the more cool of the more timid aristocratic gentlemen of the lower part of the State. His eloqueuce was pecullar, if ludeed it should be called eloquence, for it was impressive and sublime, boyond what can be imagined. Although it was difficult, when he had spoken, to tell what he had said, yet, while he was speaking, it always seemed directly to the point. When he had spoken in opposition to my point. When he had spouced in opposition to my epinion—bad produced a great effect, and I myself been highly delighted and moved, I have asked myself when he ceased: "What the devil has he said?" I could never answor the inquiry. His person was of full size, and his manuer and voice free and manly. His utterance neither very fast nor very slow. His speeches generally short— from a quarter to a half an hour. His pronunciation was vulgar and visious, but it was forgotten while he was speaking.

He was a man of very little knowledge of any band and a kind father. ort; he read nothing, and had no books. Ro turning one November from Albemarlecourt, he porrowed of me Hame's Essays, in two volumes, mylng he should have leisure in the winter for declared he had not been able to go further than twenty or thirty pages in the aret volume. He wrote almost nothing—he could not write. The resolutions of '75, which have been ascribed to him, have by many been supposed to have been written by Mr. Johnson, who acted as his second on that occasion; hat if they were written by Henry himself, they are not such as to prove any power of compestion. Neither in politics or in his profession was he a man of business; he was a man for debate only. His biographer says that he read Platarch every year. I don't whether he ever read a volume of it is his life. His temper was excellent, and he gouerally observed decoram in debate. On one or two coasions I have seen him augry, and his anger was terrible; those who willnessed it were not disposed to rours it agels. All rational men know that no section of the Union can have exactly its own theory carried out; no people ever enjoyed such a government; but we have no apprehension that any measure insufferably oppressive has any measure insufferably oppressive has any denote of such as in the federal government, either new or fer a long time to come. It is infinitely easier to preserve our present constitution and fits guarantees, than to divide this Union and make tolerable government and its guarantees, than to divide this Union and make tolerable government or they seem to desire. Indeed, we believe they would be the first to fall out with their own work, and will wans another division.

We know many of the Northern Democracy personally, and we know them to be sound and truth, and the first in the fire in the late contest, and came out giorlously under all the correct seal in the description, living in a camp for a formight at a time without a change of rais ment. I fee; much alarmed at the prospect of seeing Gen. Jackson President. He is one of the most unfit men I know of for such a place. He has had very little respect for laws or constitutions, and is, in fact, an able military chief. His passions are terrible. When I was President of the Senate he was a Benator; and he could never speak on account of the rashness of his feelings. I have seen him attempt it repeatedly, and as often choke with rage. His passions are no doubt cooler now; he has been much tried since I knew him, but he is a dangerous man.

Examination of William Early. William Early, charged with shooting and killing John Ferry, at the corner of Main and Twelfth strects, on Monday night last, had a preliminary examination before the Police Court yesterday morning. Early is about twenty years of age, is a sen of the Mr. Early, well known in this city as the Sexton of the Catholie Cemetery. Young Mr. Early is the keeper of a coffee-house in the immediate locality in which the descased was

As faithfully as we could gather the fasts in the case they are as follows: The deceased and other parties had spent Monday afternoon in the barroom of the areased, playing cards and drinking liquor. In the evening deceased had a difficulty with one of the party, and they were ejected from the house. Early wished to prevent the deceased from entering the coffee-house again, and with that view met him et the door, and sought by died in the prime of life, and her loss is mourned force to prevent his antrance. The decessed was by a large circle of relations and friends. THEATER.-There is not so much curiosity in the people of Louisville as we had calculated upon, the house last pight not being more than half full. To speak of Miss Kimberly's Hamlot as a woman's effort, it was very creditable. Her reading was as goad as that of some male Hamlets we have seen, while her acting was decidedly and undeniably feminine. We noticed som fault: in her roading, but not more than were to be expected. Her chief fault last night, however, was a relapse into that miserable mis-pronuncia tion, which she had not shown during this angagement till last night; on the other hand, her into nation and medulation were better than usual Miss Waldegrave's danse was very prettily execu zed and well received.

To-night Miss Kimberly takes a benefit, and will appear in the Actress of Patua-one of her best characters-will recite from Hiawatha, and play as Asmodecus in the Little Devil. Miss Waldegrave will dance the Pas D'Azzel, We look for a full house.

Considerable excisement is created in business circles in Pitteburg by the case of Mr. James Gray. It appears Mr. Gray was an indorser upon certain bills of exchange and acceptances to the amount of $22,600, for parties engaged in the iron and lumber budness, one residing at Paducah, Ky, and one near Pittsburg On September 26th last, service of summons was made upon him as inderser on this paper, keld by plaintiffs in these suits : and it is now charged the 2d of October, made threa deads to parties Gray for years was considered one of the wealthy men of the city.

IMPORTANT ARREST .- Officer Bligh arrested a del. Some $4 600 in sotes on the Pianters' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgia, and some $500 in counterfeit money, was found in his pessession. His correspondence Indicated that he had himself been engaged in the banking business. He will be examined before the Pelise Court wis merning.

THE NEORO Row .- We annoanced in the Democrat yesterday morning that a high degree of exeitement was crosted at the corner of Seventh and Market streets, on Wodnesday night, by a sellision between two negroes, one of whem was fired at by Officer Howard, who attempted to arrest him. John, a slave of John Smith, and George, a stave of Abram Hite, were the affenders, and were brought into Police Cours yesterday morning.

Particular Neitce. The President of the Fire Department requests the Board of Trustees to meet at Odd Fellows' on Saturday evening next, at 7 o'eleck, on siness of importance relating to the Fair.

It is also carpestly requested that the ladies who mest the Committee at the Hell on Menday morning, December 1et, at 10 o'clock.

DEUNKENNESS AND ABUSE. - Thomas Wagstaff, a very ungtinly looking man, was before the Police Court yesterday morning, charged with drunkonness and abusing his family. He had turned his wife out of doors to sleep, and excused Limself to the court for the unnatural act by stating that his wife had poked fun at him. In dafault of bail, he was sent to the work-house three Diskissed .- Robert Robinson, a non-resident, cama to the city, he said, in search of a relative. Failing in his search, he sought to forget his disappointments in liquor. He was arrested for drupkenness and brought before the Police Court yesterday. In consideration of his misfortune, he having had an arm broken, he was dismissed.

OUT ON BAIL .- Wm. Taylor and James Bates, two of the three suspected felons who were sent to the work-house on Wednesday, by Judge Johnn, in default of $500 bail, gave bail yesterday and were released. Hugh Jones was given as socurity for the former, and Robert F. Baird for the latter.

LIBERAL DONATIONS .- Mr. Watkins, of the Fire Department, reports donations for the benefit of the Ladies' Fair to the amount of $500, as the result of one day's solicitation on the part of the committee. This is quite liberal on the part of our citizens. The lists are yet open.

PRAND'S PREMIUM STOCK

MILL is now admitted to be the best mill of the kind extant. It has, on several occasions, contended for the award of merit with other mills, and partienisrly with the famed "Little Giant," and in every interance has taken the premium. At a recent trial with the latter upon the Fair Grounds of the Soutt-western Agriculturat and Machanical Association, it again took the prize. It stands now without a rival.

This mill combines three principles—that of outling with several steel blades, with that of cruehing and grinding. It is heavier and strongsr, and less liable to break or get out of repair, than any other mill tefore to break or get out of repair, than any other mill effore or fine by a single screw, which may be done by a bey ten years eid. It may ha need for eutting and krinding apples, unrulps, beets, and rutabagas, and with a emall additional expense, will cut and krindhouck, which can be done by no other mill awant.
And finally, it has greater grinding enriace, and will grind finer, fister, and easier, than any other mill of the siac in nea. It is furnished complete, will aweep hook and screws, and any farmer, with his anyer and axe, can sett in and have it grinding in half an hour.
Mrs. Hawkins and Trainer, of the City Foundery, on Main street near Preston, have established a mrannfactory of Brand's Stock Mills in this city, and t he actention of planters and estock growers in the Soc'h and West is called to its superior stalims to public favor. A Crusher.
